

January 24, 2017

Build Your IR Knowledge Base for 2017

The NIRI Annual Conference agenda-at-a-glance and a preliminary list of concurrent sessions are now available online to assist with your 2017 planning. This year's Annual Conference takes place June 4-7 in Orlando. Register now for advance registration rates, which end February 27th.

The New York Chapter is offering an innovative approach to online education with NIRI-NY Headliners. This series of educational videos covers topics of interest to IROs, including the recent "Sustainability Best Practices." To view the NIRI-NY Headliner library, please click here.

If you have a colleague who is new to investor relations or finance, please pass along this link for the NIRI finance seminars in New York on March 27-30. Finance 101 and Finance Essentials focus on the financial skills essential to IR.

To further your knowledge, I suggest that you visit the IR Update archives, which include articles on communicating with employees, managing revolving IR positions, and testimonials from new Investor Relations Charter (IRC) credential holders.

With best regards,
Mike

Michael C. McGough, CAE
Vice President, Membership & Marketing
National Investor Relations Institute
mmcgough@niri.org